变化历程

Tiexi District earnestly implemented strategic deployment of the Party Central Committee, the State Council and the provincial Party committee, the provincial government, carried out important decisions of the municipal Party committee and government in a creative way, and started its ten-year reformation road from the old industrial district to the ecological civilized district to the extent that it got a distillation out of renaissance in 2002.

In recent several years, Tiexi District party committee and government has given most prominence to the strategic position of ecological civilization construction, taken a series of major measures like Moving the East and Transforming the West, suppressing the second industry and developing the third industry, optimizing the layout, improving the environment, and obtained remarkable achievements in the old industrial base transformation, human settlement environment improvement, etc, so that it realizes a fascinating turn to “ecological district” from “industrial district”, and takes a road to ecological civilization.

1. Move the East and Transform the West: Release the new district's development potential, and Tiexi old industrial base will take on a new look of development.

2. Suppress the second industry and develop the third industry: Optimize industrial layout, so as to thoroughly solve structural environmental problems.

3. Optimize the layout: Clarify regional function positioning, so as to convert space advantage into industrial advantage and competitive edge.

4.Improve the environment:
Make more efforts on environment control, so that the old industrial district will march toward a new ecological livable urban district.
